

German students visit B-U

By Amanda Hayes
Senior Staff Writer

A group of German students and their teacher have been enjoying West Virginia hospitality for the last two weeks as they take part in a regional exchange through the United Methodist Church.

Christina Clough, who teaches English and German at Laubach-Kolleg, her daughter Lena and students Vanessa Feyh, Dorothea Palitsch, Hannah Kuhl, Katharina Hoegy, Lena Rink, Alexandra Menke and Katharina Wirth arrived in Pittsburgh July 14 and spent a few days in Wheeling before arriving in Buckhannon, Friday, July 24.

Clough said there has been an exchange for more than 20 years between the United Methodist Church and her school.

"We would like to have an exchange as well between our students and students of the Wesleyan College here," she said.

Laubach-Kolleg is a high school for

See Exchange, Page 7A

Photo courtesy TIM ROCK

This group of students from Germany has spent the last few weeks enjoying the rolling hills of West Virginia.